Synopsis

Thousands of liberation wars, each fought for their rights, some non-violent, some armed. Some struggle won some struggle still continues today, with tears without noise.

This is the story of a medical unit of the People's Army that took place. Indigenous Tamils were living in a country in the southeast of Asia. The rights of the tamil people were robbed by the government of that country. Tamil people agitated against it, they built an army for themselves and named it as "People's Army Tigers", in which men and women equally stood on the battlefield.

REALITY IN MAKING OF WAR SCENES

SALLIYARGAL

The military attacks in the border has to be given a realism, hence the locations were selected with a lot of study replicating the original war sequences that was historically held.

The Movie does include a love story of a militant who fights for his nation.
